Subject: Call from consultant representing TAT on the Crestwoodproduced water spill

I was contacted today by Jim Oliver, who is an attorney with an organization called WH Pacific that he said has been retained by the MHA Nation Tribal Council to help them figure out how to achieve restoration of the area impacted by the recent spill of >1M gals of produced water into Bear Den creek from a pipeline operated by Crestwood. He apparently got my name from Bob Sussman, whom he had recently spoken with. He indicated that they (the Tribal council) are interested in EPA assistance in meeting the Tribe's interest in restoring damage that resulted from the spill; he mentioned contamination of the alluvial groundwater and dead vegetation (including medicinal plants) and damaged soils. He said that there had recently (Tuesday) been another spill from the pipeline, and that his organization collected a sample of material from this spill and is awaiting results. [REDACTED].
